Mia Mader

- How many hours have I worked since the last meeting?
 - 3 hours
- What was done since the last scrum meeting?
 - Created the HTML and CSS for the 'table of contents' page, the 'chapter view' (where you can read chapter by chapter) and the 'search' page
- What is planned to be done until the next scrum meeting?
 - Meet with backend team
 - Implement rest of JS for missing pages, (table of contents, chapter view, search)
- What are the hurdles?
 - Ensure frontend works with the backend and is able to be deployed on the github pages site

David Martinez

- How many hours have I worked since the last meeting?
 - 3 hours
- What was done since the last scrum meeting?
 - We implemented the workflow to save a `coverS3Key` in the database and use it to generate the `coverUrl` on the frontend, thereby displaying the series cover.
 - I ensured that all fields for creating a series on the frontend were connected to the backend and that the workflow executed correctly.
- What is planned to be done until the next scrum meeting?
 - Work on the frontend to create a dropdown menu that connects the dashboard with the creation and update workflows for books, series, and chapters.
 - Plan the navigation structure for series, books, and chapters.
 - Verify that the frontend workflow connects correctly with the backend workflow.
- What are the hurdles?
 - Ensure that the dropdown button connects to the corresponding frontend pages and backend endpoints without breaking the current navigation flow.

Zachary Shea

- How many hours have I worked since the last meeting?
 - 3 hours
- What was done since the last scrum meeting?
 - Develop the rest of the sessions that will lead to the final project.
 - Finalize the documents, especially our final document.
- What is planned to be done until the next scrum meeting?
 - Continue developing the final project and to continue working on the final project and poster.
- What are the hurdles?
 - It was difficult to predict what exactly the code would produce after running it with several changes, especially with the fact that it kept producing different results.
