End time: 10:20 pm

Sprint 5, Day 2

Barbara Andino:

- How many hours have I worked since the last meeting?
 - 3 hours
- What was done since the last scrum meeting?
 - I reviewed our finalized risk matrix and the risk-to-control mapping. I identified the key threats, assets, and controls that we want to apply in our diagram. I began sketching a rough flow of the USB attack scenario. Starting with when the USB is dropped to when it's plugged into a device and compromises the system.
- What is planned to be done until the next scrum meeting?
 - I plan to refine the layout more, adding visual elements to show where each mitigation control applies in the
- What are the hurdles?
 - None at the moment.

Amelia DiGennaro:

- How many hours did I work since the last meeting?
 - 3 hours
- What was done since the last scrum meeting?
 - Since the last meeting I started researching outline formats of other flow documents so I can get an idea on how to create the USB drop attack flow document.
- What is planned to be done until the next scrum meeting?
 - I plan to continue researching and begin to create the outline of the USB drop attack flow document, mapping out the attack stages from the USB drop to the potential breach.
- What are the hurdles?
 - None at the moment.

Damian Figueroa-Gonzalez:

- How many hours did I work since the last meeting?
 - 3 hours
- What was done since the last scrum meeting?
 - I selected a safe payload design that simulates a USB-based threat without causing harm. I also chose the implementation approach and documented the safety controls required for testing.
- What is planned to be done until the next scrum meeting?

- I plan to set up the isolated test environment, prepare a short prototype, and incorporate any team feedback into the implementation plan.
- What are the hurdles?
 - None at this moment.

Moath Hussein:

- How many hours did I work since the last meeting?
 - 3 hours
- What was done since the last scrum meeting?
 - Review the initial experimental materials to assess their compliance with the project quality standards and identify areas that require improvement before the official review.
- What is planned to be done until the next scrum meeting?
 - Based on the review's results, plan the implementation of quality improvements and prepare an updated pilot version of the team's evaluation for the next meeting.
- What are the hurdles?
 - None for today
