After discussion, the velocity of the team was estimated to be 20 story points.

The product owner chose the following user stories to be done during the next sprint. They are ordered based on their priority.

1. As a job seeker, I want to paste a job description into the website and get a scam detection result so that I can avoid suspicious job postings.
 - a. Acceptance Criteria: Users can paste a job description into a text box, click "Analyze," and receive a result indicating whether the description is suspicious or safe.
 - b. Story points: 5
2. As a developer, I want to design a simple UI layout with a text box, a button, and a result area so that users can interact with the tool.
 - a. Acceptance Criteria: The page includes a text input box, an "Analyze" button, and a result display area styled using CSS.
 - b. Story points: 5
3. As a user, I want the tool to display a message when no suspicious content is detected so that I know the job is likely safe.
 - a. Acceptance Criteria: If the analysis finds no flagged keywords, a message like "No suspicious content detected" is shown.
 - b. Story points: 2
4. As a developer, I want to write unit tests for the keyword detection logic so that we can ensure it works correctly.
 - a. Acceptance Criteria: The detection logic is tested with cases like flagged keywords, no suspicious keywords, and edge cases.
 - b. Story points: 3

5. As a user, I want an "About" section on the site so that I can understand the purpose of the tool.
 - a. Acceptance Criteria: The website includes a section with a short description of the tool and its purpose.
 - b. Story points: 2
6. As a developer, I want a simple CSS style for the website so that the layout is readable and user-friendly.
 - a. Acceptance Criteria: The page uses basic CSS for fonts, spacing, and button styling.
 - b. Story points: 3
7. As a user, I want to copy the scam analysis result to my clipboard so I can easily share it with others.
 - a. Acceptance Criteria: A "Copy" button is provided next to the result. Clicking it copies the full result message to the clipboard.
 - b. Story points: 3
8. As a user, I want the site to show a loading indicator while the analysis is running so that I know the tool is working.
 - a. Acceptance Criteria: A spinner or loading message appears after clicking "Analyze" and disappears when the result is shown.
 - b. Story points: 3
- 9.
