What went wrong?

- Did we do a good job estimating our team's velocity?
 - The team successfully achieved precise estimation of their velocity, resulting in improved planning for future sprints.
- Did we do a good job estimating the points (time required) for each user story?
 - Yes the time required for each user story was adequately estimated.
- Did each team member work as scheduled?
 - Each team member actively contributed to proposing ideas for user stories and collaborated on researching information for the project.

What went right?

- The team's collaboration fostered a productive environment and continued to build the project with the product owner's feedback.

How to address the issues in the next sprint?

- How to improve the process?
 - To improve the process, we can streamline the initial set-up steps and ensure that the comprehensive documentation is easily accessible for future reference.
- How to improve the product?
 - In the next sprint, we will address any potential issues by continuing to research Greenbone documentation and explore any command line integrations possible.
