What went wrong?

- Did we do a good job estimating our team's velocity?
 - Definitely not, we underestimated our team's velocity.
- Did we do a good job estimating the points (time required) for each user story?
 - No, every user story took way longer than expected.
- Did each team member work as scheduled?
 - Yes, each team member put forth their best effort to complete the assigned user stories.

What went right?

- Most of the features are fully refactored to work under the repository pattern.
- We learned a lot about working with external APIs, back-end, front-end, and refactoring major parts of a MVC application.
- We learned a new architecture.
- There was constant communication between team members working on related user stories.

How to address the issues in the next sprint?

- How to improve the process?
 - More communication.
 - More collaboration among group members.
- How to improve the product?
 - Refactor UI to be more intuitive and in-line with the rest of the application
 - Migrate webhook functionality
